

ASPPA NATIONWhere Will You Take Your Photo?

Here's ASPPA member Alexander Barthalis in his corner of America—the Big Apple.

And here's Laura Moskwa in her hometown of Auburn, CA.

What about YOU? What iconic image is in your hometown?

Welcome to ASPPA Nation! That's what we're calling a new video that will be shown from the main stage at this year's Annual Conference. We want you to pose in front of places like the Golden Gate Bridge, Niagara Falls, a covered bridge in New England or even an odd roadside tourist attraction—whatever best represents your hometown. Have someone take a photo of you or get the entire office! Just make sure you use a high-quality camera. iPhone cameras are OK—but the higher resolution, the better chance we'll use your shot!

"C'mon ASPPA, this will be fun! Think how cool it'll be to see friends and associates as 'ASPPA Nation'—from sea to shining sea! What a great way to open our Annual Conference this October! Where will you take your photo?"

Auburn, CA

How to participate:

1. Find the perfect background. Make sure the lighting is good and take several shots.
2. Email your photos in JPG format to John Phillips at jphillips@asppa.org.
3. Include your name and credentials, plus hometown and state—the way it should be displayed on the video. If an office photo, list the office name.

Get your photos to John before Labor Day. Don't wait. Do it now!
